The cover page painting by Ms. Deblina Roy shows a creative depiction of trees (Ficus benghalensis and Ficus religiosa) being engaged in a marriage-like ritual, hinting at the blend of male and female elements in nature—a nod to the broader theme of sexuality. This scene is an artistic statement on how society can progress with sustainability, while still nurturing the environment. It suggests that acknowledging and valuing the sexual and reproductive aspects of nature is key to sustainable development.
